CLASS HISTORY

It was a very beautiful day in Autumn, four years ago, on September 6, 1940, when we tripped through the halls of Whitestown High School as "very green Freshies." We couldn't understand why our parents and upper classmen were so sorry and surprised we should be here. We were starting an adventure through the halls of fame, never to lose its excitement for four years, but we were never as stupid as the upper classmen seemed. We were growing up.

Our class roll and officers included: Bill Smith, president; Bob Scott, vice president; June Enoch, secretary; Jay Whitmore, treasurer; Mima Allen, Russell Byrkett, Lathan Clark, Margie Cline, Dicky Dye, Elsie Eberwein, Robert Hamilton, John Harshbarger, Randy Heck, Donna Hedge, Chester Isenhower, David Isenhower, Leroy Kettrey, Elizabeth Kincaid, Jeanne and Joyce Nease, Mildred Neese, Anna Parks, Junior Pipes, Beulah Quick, Lawrence Riddle, Junior Shoemaker, Jim Wills and Charles Wolfe. In February we lost Randy Heck, but gained Dale Gifford and Carl Price. The faculty consisted of Mr Frank Null, principal; Mr. Howard Williams (coach), Miss Maxine Scott, Mrs. Olive Casey, Mr. Asa Beard, Mrs. Iris Wood, and Miss Bernice Kintz. Miss Kintz and Mrs. Wood were our Freshmen Sponsors.

We were all successful as Freshmen, but September 5, 1941, found us skipping lightly through the halls again knowledge-seeking and eagerly awaiting our opportunity to help initiate the Freshmen. We, the Sophomores, welcomed Victor Booher, Barbara Coons, Ruby and Dorothy Dollar, Bob Riddell, Jim Rich and Russell Droll, but had lost Carl Price. During the course of the year we also lost Chester Isenhower and John Ditzenberger. Officers for our Sophomore year were: Charles Wolfe, president; Jim Rich, vice president; Russell Byrkett, secretary; Jay Whitmore, treasurer. Our faculty remained the same as the previous year. Our sponsor was Mr. Howard Williams.

September 7, 1942, found us walking to the assembly, looking forward to our many activities and new faculty, resolving to get the best out of the last half of our adventure. We welcomed the faculty into our midst. Our Junior officers were: Bob Scott, president; June Enoch, vice president; Dale Gifford, secretary; Bill Smith, treasurer. We also welcomed Norma Palmer, and during the course of the year we lost Russell Byrkett, Russell Droll, David Isenhower, Mildred Neese, Jim Wills, Junior Pipes and Jim Rich. Our new members of the faculty were Mr. Everett Ebbertt, principal; Mr. Lawrence Cory, Mrs. Hulda Shepherd, Mrs. Jeannette McQueen, Mrs. Ercel Ebbertt. Miss Scott was chosen as class sponsor.

The last lap of our journey began September 2, 1943, when we came striding into the halls toward the high expectations that we faithfully performed. We suffered the loss of Lathan Clark and Norma Palmer. Charles Wolfe leads the Senior group, with Jay Whitmore as vice president. Mima Allen as secretary and Margie Cline as treasurer.

During the last semester we have lost Bob Scott to Uncle Sam, and Lawrence Riddle has taken his examination and is expecting to go any time. Other former students who are serving in the armed forces are: Lathan Clark, Jim Wills, Russell Byrkett and Russell Droll. The members of the faculty remained the same as the previous year until the second semester when Mrs. Rlou Bennington replaced Miss Maxine Scott in the English department.

We are now standing today on the threshold of a new and broader life. The attachments formed here are never to be forgotten, nor can we overestimate the worth of such friendships in the days that are to come. Our associations have brought us together, until, like kindred drops we have mingled into one.

SENIOR PLAY OF 1944

Starting out with a lot of enthusiasm in November of 1943, the Seniors and Miss Scott our director began to work on our annual Senior Play. The play we chose was "Growing Pains." Due to unfortunate circumstances our director, Miss Scott, became ill and had to give up her play work and also her school work.

Letting our play rather drift along and nobody saying anything about what to do with it, we left it that way until after Christmas vacation was over and our brains bright again. Looking about for a director the class asked Mr. John Duncan to direct the play. Mr Duncan was willing, so once again we started merrily to work on "Growing Pains." The story is the dilemma of the McIntyres, who see their boy and girl tossed in the cataracts of adolescence and can help little further than give distant advice which egocentric youth always rejects, of course. These young teen-agers, George and Terry, go through their throes in company with the neighboring children. Many incidents occur but the end is bright and promising.

"THE HOOSIER SCHOOLMASTER"

Junior Play of 1943

"The Hoosier Schoolmaster" was chosen as our class play in 1943. As everyone knows this play takes us back to the days in Indiana when it was wild, rugged and especially rough on the new school teachers. This is the theme around which this play was built. The new schoolmaster come to Flat Creek and tries to win the confidence and behavior of his pupils and their parents. In doing so he falls in love with a bound-out girl Hannah Thompson.

Our play went over with a huge success—thanks to Miss Scott, our director. The audience, child and adult, was taken back to the time of the play very successfully by the costuming of the actors. The stars of the play were: Margie Cline as Mrs. Means; Charles Wolfe as Mr. Means; Richard Bearhope as Mr. Pearson; Leroy Kettry as Squire Hawkins, and Bob Riddell as Hank Banta. Several characters were outstanding in their parts they are as follows: June Enoch as Hannah Thompson; Mima Allen as Betsy Short; Jeanne Nease as Martha Hawkins; Barbara Coons as Granny Sanders; Jay Whitmore as Miranda Means; Bill Smith as Ralph Hartsook; Dick Dye as Bud Means; Dale Gifford as Doctor Small and Jim Shirley as Shockey

As a gift of appreciation to our director, Miss Scott, the entire play cast gave her a string of pearls. Our thanks go to the entire community for coming to see our play. We also thank all the committees of the Junior class who worked willingly and hard to make the play a success.

CLASS POEM OF 1944

Jay, our Vice-President,
She is no one's fool,
But this I cannot understand,
She's always late to school.

Next in line is William Smith,
He's known for many traits,
When he's not farming on the hill,
He's trying to find a date.

Mima Allen, slim and trim,
To her, her heart belongs,
But after school is out this spring,
She'll soon be Bob Delong's.

And then there's Dale,
Who's known as "Daisy,"
He's rather dignified,
But not the least bit lazy.

Jeanne with the light brown hair,
And eyes of radiant hue,
Her heart she cannot call her own,
For it's with the Navy-blue.

Charles Wolfe is one senior,
To none he holds no malice.
His heart he left in Kirklin,
Her name is Mary Alice.

Bob Scott, a member of our class,
Until he got his call,
He now is serving in Navy-blue,
And wished good luck by all.

Of course there's Lawrence Riddle,
Who played good basketball,
We also wish him lots of luck.
If he should get his call.

Elsie Eberwein is a pal,
We all tease her quite a lot,
Always trying to make her mad,
And put her on the spot.

Beulah Quick our classmate,
Who keeps her hair in curl,
May we congratulate you, dear,
As "Ideal Sunshine Girl."

SENIOR DAZE

Ruby Dollar our little one,
She is very nice and neat,
And awfully friendly to every one,
She's certainly very sweet.

Dorothy Dollar is bound to be,
A great stenographer some day,
She wants to work the least,
And draw the largest pay

Junior Shoemaker drives a car,
Likewise a tractor,
On Sunday nights it's
A 'teen-age girl he's after

Anna Parks, tall and lean,
Drives the car left by her brother,
With rationed gas and all
She hardly needs another.

June Enoch, some call "Honey"
Because she is so sweet,
She always guards a secret;
To be her friend is a treat.

Donna Hedge, a ball fan,
Is always in a hurry,
She finds the shortages of men
Cause enough for worry

Barbara Coons, a very fine gal,
Who never lags behind,
Her beau is in the Senior Class,
And in the glory of love she shines.

Margie Cline is one of those,
Who doesn't believe in holdin'
But this we know, she doesn't believe,
Is "Silence is Golden."

Now Bob Riddell's a very neat chap,
His jokes are always funny,
He has always had a yearning
To make a lot of money.

The studious type is Dickie Dye,
He plans to buy a car,
With the lady of his choice
He should go quite far

Now comes young Joyce Nease,
Last but not least in rhyme,
She's kind and generous-hearted
And will ever lend you a dime.

By Margie Cline.

SUNSHINE SOCIETY MEETING

The Sunshine Society held their monthly meeting on March 15, 1944. The meeting was called to order by the President, Beulah Quick. The roll call and minutes were read by the Secretary, Lois Hedge. Officers for 1944-45 were elected.

President . . .	Mary Frances Scott
Vice President . . .	Lois Hedge
Treasurer . . .	Maxine Shirling
Secretary	Betty Quick
Sgt.-at-Arms	Phyllis Rader
Corresponding Sec. . .	Virginia Neese

At this meeting Beulah Quick was honored by being unanimously elected "The Ideal Sunshine Girl."

JUNIOR-SENIOR RECEPTION

Now let us turn back the hands of time until we are in March, 1943. Imagine yourself in the English room, the Juniors are having a class meeting or one could say confusion-meeting for all we can distinguish is a babble of noise and once in awhile a decisive No. What is causing this great commotion? One might very well ask. It's the Juniors preparing for the Junior and Senior Reception and they are deciding on what to do and where to go. Yes, we all can very well understand why things seem to be in a tumult.

Now we are gazing ahead a few weeks. It is the 19th day of March, 1943. Time 4:00 in the Whitestown High School building. We see a group of young people "squires and sub-debs" standing in groups talking to one another, all a little nervous. At last they are all assembled, now we start for Indianapolis. Our destination? It's the Canary Cottage, where there is a room reserved for them. A huge U shaped table, with green and white decorations, and alight with tall, tapering candles, gives an intimate feeling to everyone. To each of the Seniors there is a poem about their characteristics, by the poetess Margie Cline. Our own Junior Mr. Robert Scott, president of the Junior class, gave the welcoming speech and Dean Gifford, president of the Senior class gave the answer. Miss June Enoch was the Toastmistress. Miss Becky Clemens read the Class Will, which gave us all the giggles. Miss Martha Wheat read the class prophecy During dinner as a surprise to both Juniors and Seniors, furnished by Miss Scott and Mrs. Casey, Miss _____ from Arthur Jordan, played dinner music on her accordion. She, by our request, played several more numbers after dinner, too.

But wait, that's not all, from the Canary Cottage they gaily trekked over to the English Theater, where Junior Miss was playing. I need not add that everyone enjoyed it immensely. After the play they all went their separate ways and wound the night up right. I might add that the parties (3) with me wound up stuck in the mud.

When our hair becomes gray and thin, and our face wrinkled and worn, think back to the fun you had at the Junior and Senior reception of '43.

EXHIBIT

An exhibit is being planned to help bring to conclusion the school term.

A one-act play "Billy's First Date" is being planned for the exhibit by Mrs. Cecil Bennington's Speech class.

Mrs. McQueen's Home Economics classes are planning a dress rehearsal and a playlet also.

There will be on display a review of the year's work accomplished thus far by each grade as well as work done in Manual Training and other high school departments.

The public is cordially invited. The exhibit will be April 7 in the school gymnasium.

HAYRIDE

Our first party, as dignified Seniors, was a hayride, where we all lost our dignity

It was a crisp, clear November night and we all gathered out at Lawrence Riddle's. First gorging ourselves on hot dogs, marshmallows and cokes, then we all piled into the wagon. Barbara and Lawrence got the task of drivers, Barbara was excellent too. Miss Scott had the misfortune of being our chaperon; tried to keep us all on the wagon. Going through country lanes and roads we eventually wound up in Zionsville, where we threw some hay around. Coming back to Lawrence's we all separated and went home and dreamed of what a glorious time we had. One of those memories of the class never to be forgotten.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

We, the Seniors of "44," feeling full of Christmas cheer, and being bored of the usual routine of school, dates, and studies, decided to play Santa Claus to each other

Everyone drew names which were supposed to be kept a secret but by the end of the day everybody knew who had whose. We agreed to meet with a big basket of food, a gift, and themselves the 21st of December. We used the English room as our game room. Decorating it with red and green streamers, there musical chairs, ping pong, and dancing were carried on until we had our dinner and gift exchange. Miss Scott again was our chaperon.

GOLD STAR ON FLAG

The first and only gold star on the Service Flag at present was put on for the honor of Ralph Adair, who was accidentally killed in an airplane crash in Texas.

SERVICE FLAG

A solemn and sad occasion occurred when the new Service Flag, made by the Home Economics Club of Worth Township was dedicated to the heart rendering mothers and in memory of the following boys who are facing death that our nation might endeavor to live:

- Class of 1923—Ray West.
- Class of 1925—Ralph Dodson.
- Class of 1926—Dwight Neal.
- Class of 1930—James Bohannon.

MISSING IN ACTION

John Wendalin Tudor and Daniel Stephen Harvey have been reported missing in action.

THANKS

The Senior class wishes to express their gratitude and thanks to all those who so ably made our paper a success.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

Cheyenne Wyoming
April 14, 1954.

Dear Jeanne

Time waits for no one. It seems as if it were only yesterday that we were filled with joyful plans for our coming commencement. Ten years ago tonight we received our diplomas from Whitestown High School. The party afterwards was fun wasn't it? Remember we danced to the song of the day "My Heart Tells Me" and laughed at the newest moron stories over our cokes.

Many changes have taken place since then, each has gone a separate way and played a part in the rebuilding of our country.

Were you surprised to see the postmark on the envelope? I moved to Wyoming five years ago, after I married. I met my husband while working in Charles Wolfe's law office in New York. Now I am working for the District Attorney here in Cheyenne, and feel that I am rather successful. My husband is a prominent rancher. You knew, of course, that Charles Wolfe, our one time classmate has a law office in New York. He is doing well as a criminal lawyer. Northwestern surely made a great lawyer of him. Charlie married a New York socialite and they have a gorgeous home on 5th Ave.

And Jay, have you heard from her lately? If you were to walk down the corridor of the State House in Arizona you would see the name Janet Jean Whitmore on the door of 317. She is connected with the F.B.I. Jay is engaged to a famous explorer. They plan to go to Timbuctoo on their honeymoon. Jay's book entitled "Who Did It" is a best seller. I think she sent you a copy. Did you enjoy it as much as I did?

Of course, there are always some who like to stay near home. I miss Whitestown, too. Only last month I went back for a visit. I had dinner with Lawrence and Barbara (Coons) Riddle and their two adorable children. After the war Lawrence bought a farm and now he and Barbara are farming on a large scale. After high school Barbara started her training for nursing but marriage won out.

Naturally when you speak of Barbara you think of Mima. Remember how lovely her wedding was? She and Bob are very happy in their home in Zionsville. Their little girl starts to kindergarten this year, so they plan to spend their vacation in Canada as a big spree. Mima thinks it will be an interesting experience for Margaret, that's their baby's name, while Bob hopes to do some fishing.

While I was in Indiana I went shopping and happened to meet Ruby Dollar. We went to lunch and talked over old times. She told me she had been buying her trousseau as she was engaged to her employer, the Vice President of Glamour Cosmetics, Inc. They have the date for the wedding set sometime in June. Won't Ruby make a beautiful June bride? She told me that Dorothy was living near Lexington, Kentucky. She, her husband, and two sons (Geoffrey and Gerry) live at Engle Stables, where they raise thorough-bred horses. Ruby thinks they have a sure winner for the next Derby.

By the way, we did go to the tea room you told me about. Why didn't you tell me Joyce was the owner? We talked to her for a few minutes. She seems to be very successful and says she likes the work very much. I didn't realize that the course of dietetics she took would lead to her buying such a charming tea room. The people of Indianapolis enjoy the place because it is so different.

After lunch Ruby and I went to see Dell Conrad, that new comedian, who is the current man-about-town for the younger Hollywood stars. Now, I'm not usually an autograph hound, but after all when Ruby and I realized that this same comedian was our ex-classmate, Bob Riddell, we couldn't resist the impulse to go backstage after his performance. Talking with him we learned that he got his start on Radio Station WISH, where he was discovered and given a sponsor and a nation-wide hook up.

The next day, I went to Lebanon, a much larger Lebanon than we used to know. I had an appointment at the Beauty Box, owned and operated by none other than our friends Donna Hedge and Beulah Quick of course, that isn't their last names now. Beulah supervises all hair styling, while Donna is an expert dermitrician. They both graduated from Beauty College and decided to be co-owners and so bought this beauty shoppe in Lebanon. They have made it into a prosperous business and they enjoy their careers very much.

Donna told me that Elsie was manager of a large drug store in Frankfort. She and Anna attended Business College together, and after graduation Elsie was offered this position and since they were such close friends, Anna took the position as her personal secretary. They are both very happy about their success. Both of them are married, Anna's husband a captain in the army and Elsie's husband is the owner of a theater in Frankfort.

Say, Junior Shoemaker is still a single man. Imagine his being a bachelor! However, he has his eye on a pretty little blonde, and it looks like wedding bells. He owns a large dairy farm and supplies Whitestown stores with milk and cheese and other dairy products.

On my way back to Wyoming, I decided to go through Gary to see Dale Gifford, who is superintendent of the Gary Schools. Dale is well liked by all the students and faculty. He is married and has the cutest little girl. I think it's wonderful that Dale is so young and yet has been so successful.

And coincidence comes in here again. The coach of one of the Gary schools is none other than Bob Scott. He is an excellent coach, his team has won 10 out of 12 games this year. He and Myra were married soon after the war and they have a darling little boy, named, of course, after Bob.

Another feather in our caps should be for Dick Dye. Not every alumnae can say they have fellows as important as Dick in their class. I saw him for a few minutes while I was in Lafayette. He is a Math professor at Purdue. He and his wife live right on the campus. Remember how he was always such a good Math student?

I hear from Marjorie every week. She is so satisfied in her work. She is superintendent of a hospital in Texas. She took up her nurses training at City Hospital in Indianapolis and after graduation went to Texas to this hospital and has worked her way up to the position of superintendent. She is engaged to a successful doctor there. Doesn't look as though she is going to be a bachelor girl, like she always said she was going to be.

Let's see, there should be someone else. Oh, yes, Bill Smith. Guess what he is? He is an engineer in South America. He helped build a bridge across the Amazon. Bill took his wife with him and they are very popular in the social life in Rio De Janerio. I wonder if Bill flirts with the little Brazilian girls? He always was a ladies' man.

Who would have ever thought ten years ago that we would have had such a successful class? Reading this letter over, I noticed that each member of the class has been very successful in his field. Last, but not least, there is you.

I always knew you would succeed in that librarian career. Isn't that library huge though? I've always wanted to visit the Congressional Library in Washington, D. C., so you will have to send me a few pictures of it. Will you? The pictures of your husband and two little girls, was so good. Thank you so much.

Well, this letter has grown, and grown, and before I know it, I have all the members of our class of "44" here on paper. I will close with my best regards. Wishing you luck,

I remain—

Sincerely yours,

June.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY, 1944

A glorious, heart-warming comedy of youth, "Life Begins at Sixteen," will be presented by the Junior Class of Whitestown High School. The cast of characters are as follows:

Paul Hollis	Lloyd Nease
Hilda	Maxine Shirling

HALLOWEEN SKATING PARTY

A skating party was held at Griffin's Roller Rink to celebrate that hilarious holiday, Halloween. Every class had a stand from which they endeavored to make money so as to increase the amount in their treasury.

The Senior class had a bingo stand; the Junior class an eating joint; the Sophomore, soft drinks; and the Freshmen, several little amusing games, such as Spilling the Milk Bottles.

An enjoyable evening was spent in a cheerful and peaceful way

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of nineteen hundred and forty-four, of the town of Whitestown, of the township of Worth, of the County of Boone, in the State of Indiana, United States of America, with due consideration for those hereinafter named, do solemnly make, publish, decree, affirm, proclaim, and announce this to be our last will and testament, that is to say, we, the Senior Class of 1944 having reached the mournful end of our high school journey, do hereby leave in full our most cherished traits and possessions to:

Mr. Ebbertt: Our best wishes for a happy future and another successful basketball team. A new set of pests.

Miss Scott: Our great appreciation for her advice and guidance during both the years she served as our sponsor.

Mrs. Shepherd: Our typing erasers, a new class of second year shorthand students, and better bookkeepers.

Mr. Cory: The authority to give all the flunking grades he wishes.

Mrs. Casey: All our maps, our musical talents (if any) and a successful Sunshine Society.

Mrs. McQueen: Our thanks for her efforts to domesticate us.

Mrs. Bennington: Our thanks for substituting for Miss Scott.

Mr. Sims: Orderly assemblies, because of our absence.

Albert Hine, our janitor: Cleaner class rooms. Twenty-one empty seats, very tidy, free of paper wads, gum and scratches on the desk tops.

The Grade Teachers: Quiet hall ways, because we are gone.

The Juniors: The great glorious privilege of bearing the distinguished title of Seniors. Please don't disgrace it.

The Sophomores: More authority as Juniors next year.

The Freshmen: The privilege of doing to others as others have done to them.

Charles Wolfe: To any freshman, who is man enough to wear it, my mustache. To Dick Bearhope, the red-headed girl on the seat of my trousers.

Anna Park: To Mr. Ebbertt, my cracked seat in the assembly. To Imogene Cole, my bookkeeping book.

Margie Cline: To Phyllis Rader, my indescribable ability to loquacity, and my eagerness and determination to study To Richard Bearhope, my ability to coquet.

June Enoch: To Donald Stantz, my seat in the assembly with a special map showing parking place of all chewing gum. To Joey Scott, my Bookkeeping book with all the answers in code.

Jeanne Nease: To Anna Ruth Essex, my love for Eugene Souders. To Norma West, my errors in typing. (I hope she can eliminate mine.)

Bob Riddell: To Bob Staton, my droopy corduroy pants. To Harry Kimball, my sneeze and hair pins.

Dorothy Dollar: To Norma West, my office position. To Mrs. McQueen, my chewing gum.

Bob Scott: To Donald Jackson, my ability to play basketball. To Phyllis Finney, my quiet ways.

Lawrence Riddle: To Vern Reger, my talking in Mr. Cory's assembly To Mr. Hine, my dirty desk.

Junior Shoemaker: To Doris Walker, my habit of missing school. To Lester Essex, my heel plates.

Bill Smith: To Bill Neese, my big feet and height. To Joey Scott, my ability to be tardy.

Dicky Dye: To Mr. Cory, my "Trig" answer book. To Lester Essex, my seat on the bench.

Ruby Dollar: To Lula Belle Staton, my good grades in bookkeeping. To Martha Stantz, my quietness in class.

Barbara Coons: To the faculty, schoolmates, and members of my class, a sweet, honest respected, memory of myself. To anyone who has the ability to use some brain power, and energy, my hour in the office and the attendance book.

Mima Allen: To Sherlene Jenkins, my thrill of being engaged. To Mr. Cory, my keen sense of humor.

Reulah Quick: To Martha Shoemaker, my dancing ability. To all the slow people in school, my last name.

Elsie Eberwein: To Lula Belle Staton, my musical talent. To Mr. Ebbert, a match box for the end of his nose.

Donna Hedge: To Virginia Neese, my interest in basketball. To the school, my senior picture to hang in the hall.

Jay Whitmore: To any girl, all my love for a certain sophomore boy, tall, blonde and blue eyes. His initials are D. D. God bless her To Maxine Shirling, my desire to be a "designing woman."

Dale Gifford: To Herman Ottinger, some of my dates. To Lloyd Nease, my deportment grades.

Joyce Nease: To Lloyd Nease, the rest of my wave set to hold his hair in place. To Lois Hedge, my position as librarian.

And now, we name our executors of this will, Donald Jackson and Betty Lou Quick, who, although they have not been in high school long enough to understand such things, as a will, expect to be here long enough to learn and see that this document is carried out properly

FRESHMAN INITIATION, 1943

The doors of dear old Whitestown school opened wide to greet the innocent Freshman class, clothed in hideous-looking clothes, as they came struggling in with their possessions of buckets, milk bottles, dust pans, and many other articles. Such as this was the scene of the Freshman initiation.

The high school assembled in the gymnasium that afternoon to help the class celebrate their occasion.

THIRD AND FOURTH GRADES

The Third and Fourth grades have just completed their sale of garden seeds. Much enthusiasm has been shown among the students to sell as many as they possibly could.

A great interest has been shown in the purchase of War Saving Stamps and Bonds. The amount to date is $212.70. There are seventeen students in the Third grade and fourteen in the Fourth.

Lois Porter, Teacher.

The Sophomore class organized in September, 1943, with Robert Staton as president; Lois Hedge, vice president; Hary Kimball, secretary-treasurer and Martha Stantz, reporter. Mrs. Casey was selected as sponsor.

The boys lost the contest on paying dues so they entertained the girls at a weiner roast at the athletic field, followed by games and dancing in the gym. This was our first party.

In November the class went to the Indianapolis Coliseum to see Sonja Heinie's Ice Revue.

In December, Phyllis Finney entertained the class at a delightful Christmas party at her home. Supper was served, and gifts exchanged. The evening was spent in games and dancing.

During the second semester the class enjoyed a pitch-in supper and theatre party seeing Red Skelton in "Whistling in Brooklyn."

We have made money during the year selling pop corn at ball games, competing with the Juniors in a magazine contest, and sponsoring the Spring All School Dance, March 24, 1944.

We look forward eagerly to becoming upper classmen next year when we hope to contribute much to the success of Whitestown High.

FIRST, SECOND GRADE NEWS

There are twenty-six boys and girls in the First and Second grade room, thirteen in the First and thirteen in the Second. There are thirteen boys and thirteen girls in the room.

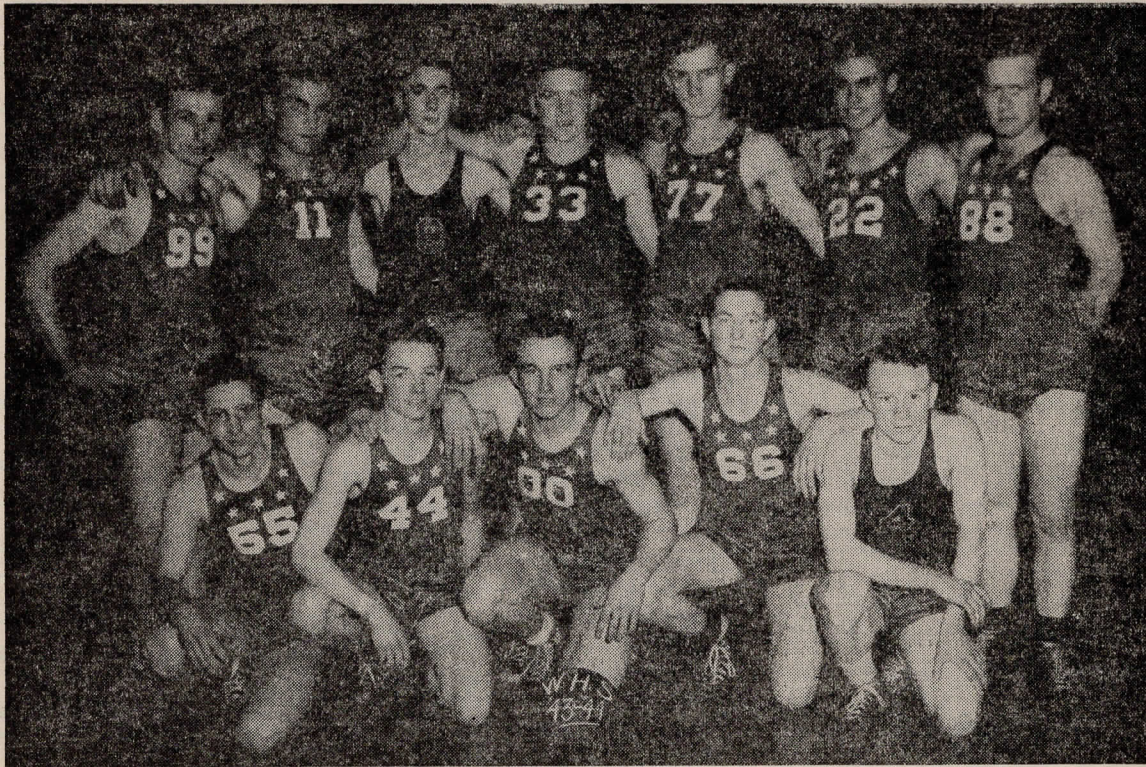

The boys and girls have worked very hard this year and have manifested much interest in everything they have tried to do. We feel like we have accomplished quite a lot.

By bringing our pennies, nickels and dimes we have bought $376.00 in war stamps.

We also have sold enough garden seeds to have $8.02 for our part to buy library books.

Mrs. Sims, Teacher.

WHITESTOWN HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL SQUAD

W H. S. TEAM FETED AT DINNER

The Whitestown Panther basketball team was honored Friday night, March 17, at a banquet held in the gymnasium. Glenn Markland, Zionsville attorney and Whitestown high school alumnus, acted as master of ceremonies.

Everett Ebbertt, principal and coach, presented sweaters to Dick Dye, Dale Gifford, Robert Riddell, and Lawrence Riddle and in absentia to Robert Scott and Lathan Clark, both in service.

Major letters were presented to Lloyd Nease, William and Lester Essex, William Frick, Robert Staton and Jack Clemens. Underclassmen honored were: Donald Stantz, Don Dye, Charles Isenhower, William Engledow, Harry Kimball, Eugene Souders, Coleman Baker, John Stum and Don Jackson.

A Union township group of junior high students headed by the principal, Jay Campbell, and a Lindbergh group of junior high students led by Principal Wayne Black, were given places of honor at the banquet table. Each principal expressed his appreciation for the courtesy and complimented the Panther team for its fine display of sportsmanship during the season. James Sims, Whitestown junior high coach, presented a brief address.

A glimpse into the future wonders of the age of electronics was presented by W. H. McGrew, a member of the Lebanon Reporter staff.

COUNTY TOURNEY

The County Tourney was started with enthusiasm among the boosters. Zionsville and Pinnell started the opening game in which Zionsville defeated Pinnell. Thorntown beat the Perry Central Midgets by 18 points; while Whitestown dropped Advance by one point. The Whitestown boosters were really excited because Advance was ahead until the Panthers came back to win with the one point lead. The fourth game between Dover and Jamestown in which Dover lost to the Little Giants by a close score. Later Thorntown defeated Zionsville by 18 points and the Panthers defeated Jamestown by a tune of 21 to 29. In the final night session Thorntown won over Whitestown by a score of 27 to 34. The Thorntown boys received the nets and the Whitestown school was given the basketball which was used in the tourney

SECTIONAL TOURNEY

The ice was broken this year on Thursday, Feb. 24, 1944, at 7:00 at the Sectional tourney at Lebanon, with Perry and Lebanon, Lebanon pulling through easily enough. The second game was won by New Augusta (Marion county) and Whitestown and Zionsville survived in the Friday afternoon games, defeating Pinnell and Jamestown respectively. In the Friday evening games, Thorntown started the ball rolling by thumping Dover and Lebanon, luckily enough survived from a strong New Augusta attack. On Saturday afternoon the Panthers left the Lebanon gym, again with another credit to their list, this time it was at the expense of the Zionsvilles Eagles to the tune of a 40-35 score.

While the Home Town boys were resting, Thorntown ended Lebanon's 14-year reign of sectional wins with an easy 30-23 triumph. Whitestown then met a strong Thorntown quintet in the finals of the tourney losing out by a margin of five points, 24-19. The boys of the Panther squad sure felt good though when Thorntown marched on to the finals of the Regional at Lafayette the following Saturday, but the Kewaskees were turned back by a tough Frankfort team in a double overtime with the final score standing 33-34. Previous to this game Thorntown defeated a large Lafayette team by the score of 31-38.

The Panthers received the tourney ball while Thorntown took the nets. In the finals, Caldwell and Eaton were the point getters for Thorntown while the Whitestown boys scoring was fairly even. The Panthers had four members of their team placed on the high-scoring list of the tourney. Connie Riddell No. 3 honors, next to Caldwell and Mount, while Nease, Staton and Essex were also placed.

From the senior boys on the squad to the remaining members, we wish you the best of luck in the world in your remaining years as a Panther.

SUMMARY OF THE BOYS

Five of the Senior boys received sweaters this year for participating in sports. A sixth sweater was given to Lathan Clark, a former member of the class, now serving in the armed forces.

James (Bob) Scott will be missed next season. He has participated in sports four years, three of those were first team competition. Bob was also pitcher on the baseball team. He received three service stripes. Bob now is serving in the Navy.

Robert (Connie) Riddell, high point man for the season, will also be missed next season. Connie served three years as varsity member of both baseball and basketball teams. He was missed in the county tourney this season because of an appendectomy operation, but was back for the sectional tourney. Three stripes were his reward.

Lawrence Riddle will be another senior to leave the squad. He played three years of baseball and basketball. Lawrence has always tried to give the opponents plenty of scrap; he was awarded with three stripes. Lawrence is now expecting a call at any time to go to the U S. Army

Richard (Dicky) Dye a fourth senior to leave the Panthers, played one year of baseball and competed four years in basketball. He made the varsity two years, thus receiving two service stripes for his participation in these sports.

Dale Gifford another senior to leave the Panther squad has played two years of baseball and competed in basketball three years. He was catcher for the baseball team his senior year Dale played enough varsity basketball to receive two service stripes.

Lathan Clark another boy to receive a sweater, was awarded with two stripes on his sweater. Lathan is now serving in the U S. Navy. He participated in baseball as well as basketball, enjoying both.

Boys available for the Panther squad next year who show valuation to the school's team are: Lloyd Nease, Billy Essex, Bob Staton, Jack Clemens, Lester Essex, Billy Frick, Bill Engledow, Don Jackson, John Stum, Charles Isenhower, Coleman Baker, Harry Kimball, Don Dye, Eugene Souders, Don Stantz.

Student Managers will be those working romeos, Bob Carey and Millard (Tubby) Pipes.

CLASS TOURNEY

The 1943-44 Class Tourney got underway at 6:00 on Tuesday, Feb. 29 as the Senior Pandas outsmarted the Freshman Greenies to the tune of 28-21 with the Seniors having only four men on the floor. No high scoring was done by any one individual on the Freshies squad, while three of the Seniors were hitting evenly, Connie Riddell was out gathering up 13 points for his team mates.

The second game at 7:00 between the Junior Satans and the Sophomore Blue Devils was interesting throughout the 32 minutes of play. The Satans led most of the way but only by a small margin. The Soph. Blue Devils made threat after threat to overcome the confident Juniors but just couldn't hit that ole basket. The gun barked with the final standing 26-21. There was a short rest period for the two winning teams and also for the crowd.

At 8:30 on the dot the ball was thrown up at center to start the final game rolling. The Pandas now had five men on the floor. The first quarter was fast ball all the way with the score ending 10-4, the Senior Pandas leading. By this time all of the Seniors had found the basket while some of the Satans were still looking for it. The second quarter of the game was a little bit slower with the Seniors controlling the ball most of the time. The first half ended 14-7, still the Seniors were leading.

When the boys came back on the floor for the next half they looked a bit tired but determined. The Juniors tired, the Seniors Pandas determined. The last half started with a bang with the Seniors outsmarting and outclassing their opponent all the way. The seniors took the ball for three consecutive baskets while the baffled Juniors were unable to secure a shot. A Senior rally was continued through the rest of the game and 34-17 victory was obtained. The Seniors also won the tourney last year. Well coaching by Mrs. Bennington was an asset to the Seniors' victory. Riddell and Gifford led the Senior Pandas attack with 10 and 8 respectively while Nease of the Juniors collected 9 of their total 17 points. The Class Tourney Trophy now states Juniors "43", Seniors "44." Connie.

COACH

A blue and white sweater was presented to Coach Everett Ebbertt by the Basketball Boys, for his Christmas present, and also for the purpose of showing their appreciation for having such a fine coach.

Mr. Ebbertt is a man with plenty of get up and go, as he usually does when the referee calls a decision against our boys. A bit of kidding was carried on through the latter part of the year about Mr. Ebbertt's getting so excited at the tourney that he lost his coat and would have lost his seat if the referee had not shown him to it. (Zionsville Game) "Remember?"

Coach Ebbertt brought the Panthers through the season with a .500 schedule game average, and a .666 tourney average. He will always be remembered by the Senior members of the team, and also by the Senior girls who thought he was cute!

YELL LEADERS

Norma West, Junior.

Martha Stantz, Sophomore.

Betty Quick, Freshman.

Our yell leaders for this year were the best W. H. S. has ever had. They really worked to get yells from the boosters of the Panthers. Sometimes they had a great amount of competition at the tourneys, but didn't give up and kept on doing their best. The seniors would like to wish them the best of luck in the coming years. Do your part as well next year and hope the team will next year.

Thank you,
Seniors of '44"

JR. HIGH BASKETBALL TOURNEY

With the opening of the basketball season prospects of a contending basketball team seemed rather remote. To match and exchange boys from the size Clemens, Smith, Souders, Stum and others to boys the size of Dodson, Hand, Fry, Etter and others would lessen the junior high school's threat as a contender.

However, though they may have been smaller in stature and less experienced, these future varsity players enjoyed the game as much as anyone. What was lacking in size, they tried to compensate by their enthusiasm and willingness to learn. Such boys as Dodson, Roseboom, Burtner and Fry, although small, tried to make up for this deficiency in speed, while upon the shoulders of Engledow rested a heavy responsibility. It was he that the boys depended upon for the rebound and under the basket work.

The junior high boys were unable to play many games during the season. It was a proud moment for them when it was announced that there would be an invitational tourney for them on the home floor. Hopes ran high. Visions of the winning trophy danced before their eyes, but other boys had the same sensations. Some one must lose in a tourney. But even losers may be winners in a tourney and accomplish far more than winning a trophy.

In the final game of the junior high meet, Lindbergh, a team of superior size and height prevailed over little Pinnell, a group of boys that surely won the heart and admiration of the spectators.

Do not be surprised some day to hear names like Dodson, Fry, Etter, Hand, Roseboom, Engledow Burtner, Eberwein, Dollar, Shirley, and others as being among the starting lineup for W. H. S. Would it not be something for a diminutive Dodson or someone equal, steal the ball, dribble fast between the legs of a second Pete Mount, shoot, and while the ball was in mid air the final gun sounded, and score the winning goal in a double overtime game between W. H. S. and Lebanon in the sectional of 1948?

FIFTH AND SIXTH

The Fifth and Sixth grades are still holding the banner for sales of Bonds and Stamps. Last year the total amount was $995.95. This school year so far they lead with a total of almost $2500. We have a little over one month to increase our sales. So here's to our Fifth and Sixth grades for the banner class.
